

Belmont Primary School Newsletter November 20th 2020

Dear Parents / Carers,

I have to say, I have certainly felt the early onset of Winter this week whilst outside! It might now be worth bearing in mind the possible need for hats and gloves (and many of you have thoughtfully suggested I remember to bring mine also!). Please do ensure that items are named so in the event of them being separated from their owners, they can be reunited quickly!

Children In Need

Once again, many thanks for supporting this through the non uniform day last Friday. I am pleased to inform you that a sum of £376 was raised. Great effort!

Odd Socks Day

The children and staff enthusiastically joined in with the odd socks event to recognise and celebrate diversity among us all. We have also had a focus on Anti Bullying Week both in class and in assemblies where, as ever, the children have shown great maturity and empathy.

Parents' Questionnaire

We have received an excellent response to the questionnaire so many thanks to all who have managed to find the time to complete and return a copy. If you have not managed to complete this, there is still plenty of time!

PD Day

Just a quick reminder that next Friday 27th November, the school is open and children will be expected to attend as usual. We are still closed on Monday 30th November for a staff training day.

Christmas Cards

We have had questions asked in relation to the distribution of Christmas cards across school. Unfortunately, this year we will be unable to do this for what I am sure will be obvious reasons. Apologies to those who are disappointed by this decision.

Attendance

Last week, attendance across the school stood at 98.9% which included seven classes with 100%.

Yours Sincerely,
